

DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs.

Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making oil-food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without alcohol or drugs.

CLASS WORK AT Y. W. TO BEGIN THIS EVENING

Courses Will Run From Bread Making and Hat Trimming to English and Spanish

This evening the Y. W. C. A. now safely installed in the new home on Hotel street, and the festivities of home warming week a thing of the past, will take up the regular association class work on a scale never before attempted in the old cramped quarters.

Classes will range from modern languages to instruction in how to cook, and will include many useful branches. The domestic science and sewing and millinery. The association now has modern equipment to handle a cooking class of eight young women. Mrs. Glenn E. Jackson, who has a diploma in domestic science, will be the cooking teacher, and it is probable that an afternoon class for school girls will also be formed.

Thursday evening is the time set for the sewing class, which will be in charge of Miss Edith Donahue, a professional instructor. The first class will be in plain sewing, but if there is sufficient demand pattern cutting and more advanced classes will also be in charge of Miss Edith Donahue, a professional instructor. The first class will be in plain sewing, but if there is sufficient demand pattern cutting and more advanced classes will also be formed.

Miss Jeanette Matthews and Miss Grace Douglas of Ehlers' millinery department, will handle the millinery classes, which will meet Tuesday evenings. The students will bring their own materials, and will be the owners of their finished creations.

Most of the inquiries for the commercial department have been for Thursday evenings the Gregg shorthand system will be taught by Miss Shirley Foster. Ability to pass an examination in business English is necessary for admittance to these classes. Business English Class.

Those deficient in business English will be aided by a Monday evening class to be conducted by Miss Helka Wikander, a teacher at McKinley High School. The class in typewriting will meet Friday evenings under Miss Esther Cummings.

A special conversation and writing class will be opened Thursday evening for women who already speak English to some extent, but who feel themselves hampered by not having sufficient command of the language. This will be in charge of Miss Ella Peabody Osborne.

The elementary class in conversational Spanish, started last fall, will be continued on Tuesday, and will take in beginners. The instructor is Segor Pedro Alonzo Martinez, who was recommended to the association by the Spanish consul here.

One of the main features will be the Glee Club, under the tuition of Miss Edith Gaffield, which will also meet on Tuesdays. It is hoped to enroll at least 30 members in the club, which will become a feature of the social and home life of the Y. W. C. A. here. The hour will be divided into two parts, the first part to be devoted to vocal culture and the technical instruction necessary, and the second to singing in chorus.

MAUI PREPARING GREAT TIME FOR PROMOTION MEN

Maui is making preparations for the first "island meeting" of the Hawaii Promotion Committee to be held at Wailuku and elsewhere, January 15 to 17, inclusive. The Promotion Committee members will leave here on the Claudine next Friday and return the following Tuesday.

Worth O. Aiken, the Maui representative of the Promotion Committee, expects a full attendance of the committee membership and is planning to have the party make the ascent of Haleakala, and to hold a business meeting at Wailuku on Saturday or Monday. A dinner will probably be given the committee on Monday evening.

Mr. Aiken is also planning to have the committee come in official contact with the Maui Chamber of Commerce and the members of the board of supervisors, so that the "promotion idea" may be given a statistical demonstration.

The Promotion Committee, under the policy of the members in office last year and this, has endeavored to widen the scope of its information activities in order to create a greater travel business to the islands of Maui, Hawaii and Kauai, and the committee secretary is positive that travel to these islands has greatly increased as a result.

Much of the literature issued by the promotion committee specializes on the various scenic and climatic attractions of "the other islands" and the revised editions of all publications will carry a comprehensive statement of what is to be seen upon them, and travelers will be urged to make these side trips.

The county of Maui formerly contributed to the Promotion Committee funds, and it is reported that contributions will be resumed in the near future. The Hilo Board of Trade has contributed right along, and there is also evidence that Kauai will soon climb into the same band wagon.

MURDERER WHO ESCAPED TAKEN BY BOOZE DECOY

Marcellino Schmidt Jumped Road Gang on Hawaii, Now Back in Prison

Officers from Hawaii Saturday brought to Oahu prison Marcellino Schmidt, a territorial prisoner doing a term of not less than 10 or more than 12 years for killing a man on Hawaii, who has been at large for three weeks, since making his escape from a road gang with which he was working near Hilo.

Schmidt was captured after a long search, a clever ruse bringing about his capture without any shooting. He was known to be reckless and it was feared there would be a battle before officers could apprehend him, but the use of a jug of wine and bottle of whisky brought him into custody without any harm being done.

Handy Informers. The capture of Schmidt was accomplished by the use of a couple of men who were sent out to find trace of the man and telephone the news to the police. The two spies worked in different localities and when on Tuesday last word was sent by one of them that Schmidt had been seen making of Paahau, the county police got busy on the proposition of capturing the escaped prisoner.

One police officer sent a man up to the mauka camp with instructions to see if Schmidt was still hanging about the place. Another man was sent to Paahau and told to keep watch there. This plan worked, for it was soon discovered that Schmidt had made his way down to Paahau and that he had been in the habit of doing so for some time past. He would visit a friend's house and get food and drink but he never could be prevailed upon to eat or sleep in the house. The man was suspicious of everybody and insisted upon eating his food while seated on a heap of firewood in front of his friend's house from where he could see in every direction for some considerable distance.

Booze Helped. When the word was sent out that Schmidt was at his friend's house one of the policemen gave another man two dollars to buy a gallon of wine and a bottle of cheap whisky. This was done and the liquor was taken to the house outside of which Schmidt was seated on the firewood.

As soon as the news reached Schmidt that there was wine and whisky in the near vicinity he asked for a drink, but refused to enter the house to dispose of the booze. He was given several drinks as he sat on the logs and, after a while, he insisted on more of the liquid refreshment. The consequence was that he gradually became drunk and, finally, absolutely intoxicated. He talked loudly and boastfully about his doings and then, after a while appeared to be drowsing as he sat.

It was when Schmidt apparently was well filled with booze that the word was sent again to the officer who was waiting nearby. Officer Campbell and Inspector Furtado then approached in battle formation and with a final rush dashed upon Schmidt and grasped him. Then there was a fine wrestling match in the mud and it took some time to get the handcuffs on the infuriated criminal.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

GOVERNOR RENAMES VETERAN MEMBERS OF FORESTRY BOARD

Governor Pinkham Saturday reappointed H. M. von Holt as a member of the board of agriculture and forestry to serve for a term of five years ending December 31, 1920. Mr. von Holt has been a member of the board for several years. One vacancy still exists on the board for the governor to fill by appointment.

Late Friday W. W. Buckle was appointed by the governor as a member of the board of registration, filling the vacancy left by the death of John D. Holt.

The body of an unidentified man locked in a trunk buried in quicklime was discovered by workmen tearing down a house on Kensington avenue, Philadelphia.

Representative Tavenner of Illinois made the first preparedness speech of the session in the house.

JANUARY STARTS WITH GOOD WEEK'S SHOWING IN BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits for the week ending Saturday reached a total of $39,267, according to figures in the building inspector's department. Fees from these permits amounted to $60.

As compared with the permits issued during last December last is a good showing. December weekly permits averaged approximately $22,000. Highest of the permits issued during the week just ended is for Mrs. Mary Moore's residence, Manoa, the estimated cost of this building being $5000.

Congested railroad conditions at Pittsburgh are sending the price of coke upward.

Three packing companies, Swift & Co., Armour & Co. and Morris & Co., have agreed to pay $40,000 penalties for infringement of Texas anti-trust laws.
